

This document records the formal adoption of the Brighton Declaration by The Sports Council of Spain at Madrid on March 6, 2012.

The Sports Council of Spain, as governing body for sports issues, approved on January 29, 2009 the Equality and Women's Participation in Sport Declaration.

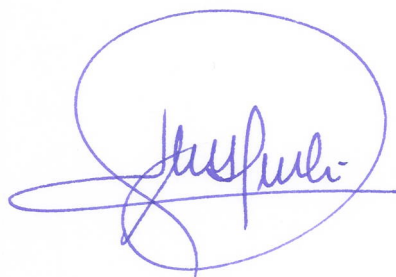

Since 2007, when the Women and Sports department was created, we have been working to promote sports for women and to achieve effective equality between women and men in every area and level of sports. Today, nearly more than one thousand people, organizations, associations, etc. have already endorsed the Equality and Women's Participation in Sport Declaration, which expresses the assumption of the basic principles of the Brighton Declaration.

In recognition of the important role that sport and physical activity can play in the lives of girls and women, we support the aim of the Brighton Declaration to develop a sporting culture that enables and values the full involvement of females in every aspect of sport.
